

Brann og brannvannsystemer

Foredragsholder: Steingrim Bosheim, Statoil

Resymé

Freezing of firewater

Most parts of the distributed firewater system are based on empty pipes to prevent that any water freezes and blocks the pipes or the deluge nozzles. We are looking at how to test the different parts of the firewater system in cold temperatures to see if it will operate as intended or if/when it will freeze. Models will be developed along with this testing. The tests will also look at freezing of water on the deck.